Thung Si Mueang

Ubon Ratchathani

Located on the bank of the Mun River, Ubon Ratchathani is a large city whose history dates back to two centuries ago. Legend says Thao Kham Phong, Thao Thit Phrom and Thao Kam, descendants of Phra Wo and Phra Ta, escaped from King Siribunsan of Vientiane into the Siamese Kingdom during the reign of King Taksin the Great. They later built a new city at Dong U Phueng, close to the Mun River. In 1780, King Taksin the Great named the city "Ubon Ratchathani" and appointed Thao Kham Phong to be "Phra Pathum Wongsa" as the first ruler. The city was governed by four rulers until 1882 when it was led by a governor.

Ubon Ratchathani is in the lower region of Northeastern Thailand, 629 kms. from Bangkok. The province features plateaux and mountain ranges with the Mun River running through the middle. Sandstone cliffs by the Mekong River serve as a natural border between Thailand and Lao PDR.

Ubon Ratchathani covers a total area of 15,744 sq. kms. It can be divided into 25 districts; namely, Amphoe Mueang Ubon Ratchathani, Amphoe Warin Chamrap, Amphoe Det Udom, Amphoe Buntharik, Amphoe Na Chaluai, Amphoe Nam Yuen, Amphoe Phibun Mangsahan, Amphoe Khong Chiam, Amphoe Si Mueang Mai, Amphoe Trakan Phueta Phon, Amphoe Khemarat, Amphoe Muang Sam Sip, Amphoe Khueang Nai, Amphoe Kut Khaopun, Amphoe Tan Sum, Amphoe Pho Sai, Amphoe Samrong, Amphoe Sirindhorn, Amphoe Don Mot Daeng, Amphoe Thung Si Udom, Amphoe Na Yia, Amphoe Na Tan, Amphoe Lao Suea Kok, Amphoe Sawang Wirawong, and Amphoe Nam Khun.

ATTRACTIONS

Amphoe Mueang Ubon Ratchathani

Thung Si Mueang (ทุ่งศรีเมือง)

A field in the heart of the city, in front of the city hall, is a beautifully landscaped public park. Formerly the ruler's rice paddy fields, it was turned into a public park and venue for festivals during the reign of King Rama V. The field has

*Chao Kham Phong
or Monument of Phra Pathum Worarat Suriyawong*

four gates; namely, Ubon Det Pracharak, Ubon Sak Prachaban, Ubon Kan Prachanit, and Ubon Kit Prachakon. It houses an imitation of a carved candle sculpture, health park, and playground. The park is open from 5.00 a.m. to 10.00 p.m. Moreover, its attractions include:

City Pillar Shrine (ศาลหลักเมือง)

Located at the southern corner of the field, the sacred pillar was built in 1972. The shrine is open between 5.00 a.m. to 7.00 p.m.

Monument of Phra Pathum Worarat Suriyawong or Chao Kham Phong (อนุสาวรีย์พระปฐมวรราชสุริยวงศ์ หรือเจ้าคำผง)

Phra Pathum Worarat Suriyawong is the founder of Ubon Ratchathani during 1778-1795.

Sculpture of Somdet Phra Maha Wirawong or Tisso Uan (ประติมากรรมสมเด็จพระมหาวิรวงศ์ หรือติสโส อ้วน)

a famous monk who was well known in Sutra and Vipassana.

Monument of Goodness (อนุสาวรีย์แห่งความดี)

The monument was built by WWII PoWs to honour the generosity and goodness of the people of Ubon Ratchathani.

Wat Thung Si Mueang

Sculpture of Harmony and Progress (ประติมากรรมร่วมใจก้าวไปข้างหน้า)

The sculpture represents the harmony of 4 countries; namely, Thailand, Lao PDR., Cambodia, and Vietnam.

Wat Thung Si Mueang (วัดทุ่งศรีเมือง)

Located on Luang Road in the Amphoe Mueang Municipality, the temple was built since the reign of King Rama III. Phra Ariyawongsachan Yanawimon Ubon Sangkhapamok (Sui), Ecclesiastical Chief Officer of Ubon Ratchathani at that time was the founder. As he studied in Wat Saket, Bangkok, he brought a replica of the Buddha's footprint from Wat Saket to Ubon Ratchathani. Now, the Buddha's footprint is housed in the Ubosot which mirrors art blending between the early Rattanakosin era and that of Vientiane. Inside, murals from the era of King Rama II decorate all the walls.

Another important building in the temple is the Ho Trai - the Hall of Tipitaka scriptures. The wooden hall was built in the pond to protect the Tipitaka from insects. The four-room hall houses wooden scripture cabinets which are beautiful lacquer work decorated with gold leaf. It has blending art styles; namely, Thai-style partitioned wooden walls with carving of zodiac animals and floral motifs at the bottom, Burmese-style tiered roof with traditional Thai roof decorations, and Laotian sculpture on the gables. Such decoration makes it a very beautiful hall.

Wat Si Ubon Rattanaram or Wat Si Thong

(วัดศรีอุบลรัตนาราม หรือวัดศรีทอง)

Located south of the city hall, on Uparat Road, the temple was built since 1855. The Ubosot, built in an imitation of Wat Benchamabophit's Ubosot in Bangkok, houses a sacred Buddha image known as "Phra Kaeo Butsarakhm". The Buddha image, in the attitude of subduing Mara, is carved from topaz into the Chiang Saen style.

Legend says Phra Woraratchaphakdi and descendants of Phra Ta; namely, Thao Kham Phong, Thao Thit Phrom and Thao Kam who founded the city, brought the Buddha image from Vientiane. The image was first kept at Ban Don Mot Daeng and then moved to Wat Si Ubon later.

When Siam remained ruled by an absolute monarchy, the Buddha image was used to preside over the Oath of Allegiance ceremony. Now, the Buddha image is considered a sacred icon of Ubon Ratchathani. Each year, in the Songkran Festival, people will parade the Buddha image around for the people to pay respect and bathe. The temple is open from 4.30 a.m. to 10.00 p.m.

Ubon Ratchathani National Museum

(พิพิธภัณฑสถานแห่งชาติ อุบลราชธานี)

Located at the intersection between Khuean Thani Road and Uparat Road, the single-storey hip roof building built since 1918 once served as the city hall before it was handed to the Fine Arts Department. The museum features local exhibitions; namely, geography, history of the city's establishment, archaeological finds, art objects, local handicrafts, folk games, and belongings of former rulers. The museum is open daily, except on Monday, Tuesday, and national holidays, from 9.00 a.m. to 4.00 p.m. Admission is 100 baht. For more information, call Tel. 0 4525 1015, 0 4525 5071.

The Golden Jubilee Art and Cultural Centre

(ศูนย์ศิลปวัฒนธรรมกาญจนาภิเษก)

The 7-storey building in contemporary Isan architecture was built to commemorate the Golden Jubilee Celebrations of His Majesty's Accession to the Throne. HRH Princess Maha Chakri Sirindhorn presided over the opening ceremony on 11 December, 2001. It also houses the Ubon Nithat Cultural Hall which serves as a local learning and folk wisdom centre. There is also a convention centre, theatre and many facilities. For more information, call Tel. 0 4535 2031, 0 4526 2901-2.

Wat Chaeng

(วัดแจ้ง)

The temple is located on Sapphasit Road. According to legend, the temple was built by Prince Nu Kham in 1888, in the reign of King Rama V. The Ubosot, which was completed 24 years later, is famed for its beautiful architecture and rare woodcarving. Being 6 metres wide, 15 metres long and 10 metres high, the low-rise Ubosot formerly had a wooden roof which was later replaced by tiles. It is decorated with crocodile stucco at the front staircase and wooden gable carved in a lotus pattern. Its gable's edges, or Hang Hong, are special with a delicate pattern of Naga. As a precious historical site, the Ubosot is well preserved in its original condition. It has won a Certificate of Honour from HRH Princess Maha Chakri Sirindhorn in the 'Architect 87' Exhibition.

Wat Maha Wanaram

(วัดมหาวนาราม)

Located on Sapphasit Road, the temple is also called Wat Pa Yai. Built simultaneously with the establishment of Ubon Ratchathani, it was firstly only a 'Samnak Song' – monastic residence – for Vipassana monks. In the era of the second ruler, Thao Thit Phrom, it was upgraded to be a temple and considered the signature temple of the second ruler.

The temple was renamed Wat Pa Luang Manichot, but the villagers called it Wat Nong Traphang, after the nearby pond. It was renamed again into Wat Maha Wanaram until now.

According to a stone inscription found behind the principal Buddha statue, Phrachao Yai In Paeng, it was built in 1807. Phra Maha Ratchakhru Si Satthatham Wongsas was the first abbot. The stucco Buddha statue, in the attitude of subduing Mara, was built in the Laotian style. A celebration is held annually on every full moon day of April to honour the Buddha image.

Wat Burapharam (วัดบูรพาราม)

Located on Burapha Nai Road, the temple once served as a residence for famous meditation monks; namely, Achan Si Thachayaseno, Achan Man Phurithatto, Achan Li Thammatharo, Achan Sao Kantasilo, and Achan Sing Khantayakhamo. Today, the temple houses life-like stone figures of these monks.

Wat Supattanaram Worawihan

(วัดสุปฏิญนารามวรวิหาร)

Located on Somdet Road, this is the first Dhammayutika temple of the province. The temple was built in 1850 and completed in 1853. King Rama IV named this temple "Supattanaram" which means good location. The temple has a special Ubosot designed by a royal highway engineer Luang Sathit Nimankan (Chuan Supiyaphan). The Ubosot - 20 metres wide, 34 metres long and 22 metres high - has three different characters. It has a Thai-style roof, western style hall and Khmer-style basement. Phra Sapphanyuchao, the principal Buddha image in the subduing Mara attitude, is placed here.

Hat Wat Tai (หาดวัดใต้)

The beach situated in the middle of the Mun River is in Amphoe Mueang Municipality. During the dry season, its white sandy beach is a favourite place for holiday-makers to enjoy the easy atmosphere and greenery. Floating restaurants are also available. It is best to visit the beach from January to May.

Ban Kan Lueang Archaeological Site (แหล่งโบราณคดีบ้านก้นเหลียง)

Situated in Wat Ban Kan Lueang, Tambon Makham Yai, it is an archaeological site which can be dated back to 2,800-2,500 years ago or the Iron Age. In 1996, the Fine Arts Department found a number of artefacts such as beads, pottery, bronze bells, iron axes and chaff.

Wat Sa Prasan Suk or Wat Ban Na Mueang (วัดสระประสานสุข หรือวัดบ้านนาเมือง)

Located at Ban Na Mueang, the temple houses a special Ubosot in the shape of the Suphannahong Royal Barge decorated with mosaic. The abbot, Achan Bunmi, is widely honoured among the people of Ubon Ratchathani as well as those from nearby provinces.

To get there: from Highway 231, head for Amphoe Trakan Phueth Phon and turn right on Highway 2050 toward the airport. The temple is on the left.

Wat Sa Prasan Suk or Wat Ban Na Mueang

Wat Phrathat Nong Bua (วัดพระธาตุหนองบัว)

Located on Thammawithi Road, the temple houses a Bodhi Gaya-style pagoda. The only one in the region, the pagoda was built among lush timber forest to mark the 25th century of Buddhism in the year 1957. The square-base pagoda, 17 metres wide and 56 metres high, houses the Lord Buddha's relic inside. The pagoda has four doors; moreover, it is surrounded by another four small pagodas situated at the four corners of the boundary wall.

To get there: the temple is 3 kms. from downtown Ubon Ratchathani. Motorists can use Chayangkun Road bound for Amnat Charoen. The temple is 500 metres off the main road.

Hat Khu Duea (หาดคูเดื่อ)

The beach by the Mun River is 12 kms. from downtown Ubon Ratchathani via Highway 24. Lots of restaurants on the raft are available.

Ban Pa-ao (บ้านปะอาว)

The ancient village is situated in Tambon Nong Khon, 18 kms. from downtown via Highway 23. It is 3 kms. off the highway at Km. 273. Since two centuries ago, the villagers actually immigrated from Vientiane during the reign of King Siri Bunsan and settled here. The village is famed for its brass work in an ancient style. A brass product centre and silk products are available.

Amphoe Warin Chamrap

Wat Nong Pa Phong (วัดหนองป่าพง)

The temple is situated in a lush forest of Tambon Non Phueng. The tranquility allows monks to study and practice Vipassana meditation. In 1954, Luangpu Cha (Phra Phothiyon Thera) founded a Samnak Song – monastic residence – before it was later upgraded to be a temple. Attractions in the temple include the Phra Phothiyon Thera Museum that displays the eight requisites and wax model of Luangpu Cha, as well as brassware and Buddha images. It is open between 8.00 a.m. to 4.30 p.m. The location of the Si Phothiyon Pagoda is the cremating place of Luangpu Cha.

To get there: motorists can use Highway 231 bound for Det Udom, turn right at Km. 13 and keep going for another 2 kms. For more information, call Tel. 0 4526 7563.

Wat Pa Nana Chat

Wat Pa Nana Chat (วัดป่านานาชาติ)

The temple is located in Ban Bung Wai, 14 kms. from downtown Ubon Ratchathani via Highway 226. It shares the entrance with Wat Pa Mongkhon. Wat Pa Nana Chat is the 19th branch of Wat Nong Pa Phong. Numerous foreign monks study and practice Vipassana meditation here; most of them can speak Thai fluently and pray in Pali. Strict practices of the monks here make the temple quite honourable among Buddhists.

Amphoe Phibun Mangsahan

Wat Phukhao Kaeo (วัดภูเขาก้าว)

Situated on the hill by Highway 217, approximately 44 kms. from downtown Ubon Ratchathani and 1 km. from Amphoe Phibun Mangsahan, the temple has a very beautiful

Wat Phukhao Kaeo

Uposot which is delicately decorated with a tiered roof covered with terracotta tiles and supporting a golden spire in the middle. The gables are ornately adorned with traditional frame ornaments and stucco reliefs. Inside is the high-relief regarding important Phrathats – relic-containing pagodas - of Thailand.

Kaeng Saphue (แก่งสะพือ)

The rapids in the Mun River is a place to relax and enjoy the currents and wave sound. 'Saphue' derives from the word 'Samphuet' in Suai ethnic language which means large serpent.

February to May is the best period to visit, as tourists can witness the beautiful rocks that are not visible in the rainy season. Their Majesties the King and the Queen made a visit here twice. There are pavilions and stalls selling local products. The beautiful rapids are 45 kms. from downtown Ubon Ratchathani, via Highway 217.

Amphoe Sirindhorn

Sirindhorn Dam (เขื่อนสิรินธร)

Called Khuean Dom Noi by the locals, the rockfill dam with a clay core was constructed across the Lam Dom Noi, a tributary of the Mun River. The hydroelectric dam is 42 metres high and 940 metres long. It also supports irrigation in the area. By the reservoir, Sirindhorn Park is a beautiful place with colourful garden, sculptures, fountains, and guesthouses. For more information, call Tel. 0 4536 6081-3 ext. 2708.

To get there: motorists can use Highway 217, turn right at Km. 71 and keep going for another 500 metres. The dam is 70 kms. from Amphoe Mueang.

Chong Mek (ช่องเม็ก)

The permanent Thai-Lao border pass is 90 kms. from downtown Ubon Ratchathani, via Highway 217. The pass is a land bridge to Champasak Province, an important tourist destination in the south of Lao PDR. Besides state offices, the pass is a large border market with duty-free shops in Lao PDR. The significant tourist attractions in Champasak include Pakse, Prasat Wat Phu, Si Phan Don where the Mekong River spreads 7 kms. wide and creates thousands of islands. The most interesting places are the Li Phi and Khon Pha Pheng Waterfalls.

A foreigner will require a passport to enter Lao PDR. via Chong Mek. For more information, call the Ubon Ratchathani Provincial Office at Tel. 0 4525 5505, 0 4524 2843, Immigration Office at Tel. 0 4548 5107. A three day/two night package to Lao PDR. is available from tour operators in downtown Ubon Ratchathani.

Kaeng Tana National Park (อุทยานแห่งชาติแก่งตะนะ)

Covering an area of some 50,000 rai in Amphoe Sirindhorn and Khong Chiam, the park features plateaux and undulating hills with deciduous dipterocarp forest and grassland. Established on 13 July, 1981, the park's headquarters is located by Tana Rapids, the Mun River.

To get there: there are two routes to get there. Motorists can use Highway 217 and then 2173. Another route is Highway 2222, via Amphoe Khong Chiam and cross the Mun River for another 12 kms.

The park has many attractions; namely,

Don Tana (ดอนตะนะ)

An island in the middle of the Mun River of only 450 metres wide and 700 metres long. Two hanging bridges allow tourists to reach and enjoy its beach at the northern corner under the shady dry evergreen forest. Local fishery can be seen around the island in the morning and evening.

Kaeng Tana (แก่งตะนะ)

The largest rapids of the Mun River. In the middle of the rapids, there is a huge sandstone boulder splitting the river into two streams, and a concrete block built during the French Colonial Era to identify a channel for cruising. Submerged caves make the rapids an ideal habitat for fish. November – June is the appropriate period for visiting.

Hanging Bridges (สะพานแขวน)

The hanging bridges, made from iron and slings, link both sides of the river with Don Tana and allow tourists to enjoy the scenery and nature trail on the island easily.

Tham Phra or Tham Phu Ma Nai (ถ้ำพระ หรือ ถ้ำภูผาไน)

Situated 1 km. from the national park's headquarters, the cave is 45 metres wide and 10 metres deep. A stone inscription and Lingam base or 'Yoni' from the 7th-8th Century, or during the reign of King Mahendravarmā (Prince Chitrāsena), were found. Now the original stone inscription is kept in the National Museum, Ubon Ratchathani.

Lan Pha Phueng (ลานผาผึ้ง)

The sandstone terrace is situated next to a towering cliff where tourists can enjoy the sunrise view and landscape of Lao PDR. It is 1.5 kms. from the park's headquarters. It can be accessed by car or study trail along the the Mun River.

Namtok Rak Sai Nature Trail (เส้นทางศึกษาธรรมชาติน้ำตกarakไทย)

The trail lines along the cliff by the Mun River, 500 metres from the park's headquarters. It runs by the cliff for 1 km. through various kinds of flora, such as lichen, moss, and fern, Tham Phra and Namtok Rak Sai. It is another good short-trip trail.

Namtok Tat Ton (น้ำตกตาดโตน)

The waterfall is situated on Highway 2173, off Highway 217 by 5 kms. Originating from Tat Ton Creek, the beautiful fall runs through a rock terrace before plunging into a pool which allows tourists to enjoy swimming among the lush forest and flowers. From June to October is the best period to admire its beauty.

In the park, guesthouses for tourists are available. For more information, call the National Park, Wildlife and Plant Conservation Department at Tel. 0 2562 0760 or Kaeng Tana National Park at Tel. 0 4524 9802, 0 4244 2002.

Amphoe Khueang Nai

Annamese Lion Pulpit at Ban Chi Thuan (ธรรมาสถูปาลิขิตปะชุนบ้านชีวาน)

The Buddhist pulpit is placed at Wat Sinuan Saeng Sawang Arom, Ban Chi Thuan, Tambon Chi Thuan. The concrete pulpit itself is quite unique with a lion sculpture carrying the pulpit with decorative stucco, multi-layer wooden roof, and painting in the Annamese style. Estimated to have been built in 1925 by Annamese craftsmen, the pulpit is considered a precious piece of local art.

To get there: the village is 26 kms. from downtown Ubon Ratchathani. Motorists can use Highway 23 and then 2412. The village is 5 kms. off the main road, on the left.

Wat Thung Si Wilai (วัดทุ่งศรีไล)

Located in Ban Chi Thuan, the temple houses Luangpho Wiset, the principal Buddha image carved from laterite seated beneath the Naga's hood. The sacred Buddha image from the Dvaravati period is 55 cms. wide and 90 cms. high and considered a sacred icon for the village. The temple is surrounded by several enclosures of Sima stones that mark the temple's consecrated boundary.

Wat Thung Si Wilai

To get there: the temple shares its entrance with Wat Sinuan Saeng Sawang Arom.

Amphoe Khong Chiam

Wat Tham Kuha Sawan (วัดถ้ำคูหาสวรรค์)

Situated in Tambon Ban Dan, off Highway 2222, the temple was built since 1978 by Luangpu Khamkhaning Chulamani to be a place for meditation practice where he also resided.

Today, Luangpu has passed away but his body, which is not rotten, is well kept in a glass coffin and considered a sacred item. The temple offers nice scenery of the Mekong River and Lao PDR.

Maenam Song Si (แม่น้ำสองสี)

At the mouth of the Mun River, Ban Woen Buek, just a 5-minute drive from Amphoe Khong Chiam, is an amazing point. The Mun River runs into the Mekong, so we can see two rivers, in two different colours – 'Song Si' means two colours - blending together. The Mekong River will be reddish brown while the Mun River is rather blue. Tourists can see such the colour difference from Wat Khong Chiam and Ban Huai Mak. April is the best time to see this. A boat cruise service to explore the rivers, Kaeng Tana, Ban Woen Buek and Pha Taem, as well as shopping in Lao PDR. is available.

Pha Taem National Park (อุทยานแห่งชาติผาแต้ม)

Established on 31 December, 1991, the park covers a total area of 140 sq. kms. in Amphoe Khong Chiam, Amphoe Si Mueang Mai and Amphoe Pho Sai. The park's boundary is next to Lao PDR., with the Mekong River forming the border. The park features plateaux, undulating hills, and towering cliffs with strange sandstone formations scattered around. The park is covered mostly by deciduous dipterocarp forest and wild flowers can be found on the rock terrace.

To get there: Pha Taem National Park is 18 kms. from Khong Chiam. From Amphoe Khong Chiam, motorists can use Highway 2134, then 2112. Turn right at Km. 8 and continue for another 5 kms. to Pha Taem. Its attractions include:

Sao Chaliang (เสาเฉลียง)

The stone towers are situated approximately 1 km. before Pha Taem. Carved by wind and water for millions of years, the mushroom-like stone towers are scattered around the area containing shell fossils, sand and gravels in their texture. Geologists assumed that over million years ago this area was once a sea. Their name 'Sao Chaliang' derives from a dialect word 'Saliang' which means 'stone tower'. A nature trail is available but a guide is required.

Pha Taem and Pha Kham (ผาแต้มและผาขาม)

The towering cliffs house groups of pre-historical paintings which date back to 4,000-3,000 years ago. A 500-metre long trail from the top of the cliff leads to the ancient paintings which line 180 metres. There are over 300 paintings in five categories including animals, geometrical motifs, rice farmers, hands, and 'Tum' or typical fish trap used widely by the Mekong's fishermen. On the other side of the Mekong River is the picturesque view of Lao PDR. Tourists can enjoy an earlier sunrise view in Thailand just as at Ban Woen Buek, close to the two-coloured river.

Namtok Soi Sawan (น้ำตกสร้อยสวรรค์)

The waterfall is situated on Highway 2112, turn right at Km. 20 and drive for another 5 kms. A further walk of 500 metres from the parking area will lead to the waterfall. Two streams, Huai Soi and Huai Phai, combine and plunge 20 metres down to the pond below, making the waterfall look like a necklace – 'Soi' in Thai. Around the fall is a great variety of plants and wild flowers which bloom in October to December, making it the best time to visit.

Namtok Thung Na Mueang (น้ำตกทุ่งนาเมือง)

Situated on Highway 2112, 13 kms. from Namtok Soi Sawan by a right turn at Ban Na Pho Klang for another 10 kms., the medium-sized waterfall cascades down a 25-metre cliff through flowerbeds which are in full bloom between October to December.

Namtok Saeng Chan or Namtok Ru (น้ำตกแสงจันทร์ หรือน้ำตกรุ)

The fall is 1 km. prior to Namtok Thung Na Mueang. Motorists have to turn right at Ban Thung Na Mueang and the waterfall is 2 kms. away. The tiny fall is special as the stream falls through a hole – ‘Ru’ – down to the pond below. At noon, sunshine through the hole makes the waterfall look like a ray of moonshine – ‘Saeng Chan’.

Dong Na Tham Forest (ป่าดงนาทาม)

Situated on Phu Na Tham, 36 kms. from the park’s headquarters, the forest allows tourists to enjoy the nature, flora, mountain and the Mekong River. Its attractions include rock terraces, Phlan Tham Hai, Sao Chaliang Khu, mountain pines (Pinus merkusii), Namtok Huai Phok, Pha Chana Dai, Pha Kampan, Pha Hin Taek, Namtok Kwang Ton, Hin Yok, and Phu Chom Kom. From September to November is the best time to enjoy the nature around while flowers are in full bloom, as well as waterfalls and fogs over the Mekong River. From January to March is the best time to see the forest change its hue, with trees shedding their leaves, and to cruise in the Mekong from Ban Pak La to Khan Tha Kwian. There are three nature trails which tourists can experience all year round. They include Pha Taem - Namtok Soi Sawan Route, Thung Na Mueang - Pha Chana Dai Route, and Tham Patihan - Pha Chana Dai Route. For more information, call the Na Pho Klang Sub-district Administration Organization at Tel. 0 4524 9002.

Wat Phu Anon (วัดภูอานนท์)

Located north of Ban Sasom, 10 kms. off Highway 2112 from Ban Na Pho Klang, the temple has interesting attractions including a rock terrace with large footprints, nature-made stone jar, and cave painting. It is a nice place for a short trip.

Pha Taem National Park does not provide accommodation for tourists. Those who want to stay overnight are required to bring their own camping gear. A camping ground is available. For more information, mail to Pha Taem National Park at P.O. Box 5, Tambon Huai Phai, Amphoe Khong Chiam, Ubon Ratchathani 34220 or call Tel. 0 4524 9780.

Amphoe Si Mueang Mai

Phu Lon (ภูหล่น)

The mountain is in Tambon Song Yang, 20 kms. north of Amphoe Si Mueang Mai. It has a cave where the late famous monk Phra Achan Man Phurithatto practiced his Vipassana. The shady environment makes it a nice place to relax or practicing meditation.

Amphoe Buntharik

Namtok Huai Sai Yai or Kaeng I Khiao (น้ำตกห้วยทรายใหญ่ หรือแก่งอีเขี้ยว)

The waterfall is in the Buntharik - Khao Yot Mon Wildlife Sanctuary. Motorists can head north on Highway 2369 for 26 kms. to Ban Huai Sai, turn right at Km. 29, and keep going for another 6 kms. The waterfall runs over the rock terrace among a shady environment. Tourists can enjoy the fall from September to December.

Phu Chong - Na Yoi National Park (อุทยานแห่งชาติภูจอง-นายอย)

The park covers a total area of 686 sq. kms. in Amphoe Buntharik, Amphoe Na Chaluai, and Amphoe Nam Yuen. Its boundary connects to Lao PDR. and Cambodia in the area called the Emerald Triangle. With a lush jungle of the Dongrek Range, the park was established on 1 June, 1987. The park's headquarters is located at Ban Kaeng Rueang, Amphoe Na Chaluai, 150 kms. from downtown Ubon Ratchathani. Its attractions include.

Namtok Huai Luang or Namtok Bak Teo (น้ำตกห้วยหลวง หรือน้ำตกบักเตว)

The waterfall is situated 3 kms. from the park's headquarters and accessible by car. Plunging for three steps from the elevation of 30 metres, the waterfall has a small pool with a white beach and turquoise colour water that allows tourists to enjoy from September to February. There is a trail leading to Namtok Chum Chim or Namtok Pra-on La-o downstream.

Phlan Yao Rock Garden (สวนหินพลาญยาว)

Rocks in different formations are scattered around the area.

Pha Phueng Viewpoint (จุดชมทิวทัศน์ผาม้าง)

The viewpoint is just next to the rock garden. From there, tourists can enjoy the scenery of the Lao and Cambodian border. Its small cave houses beautiful rocks and a large beehive.

Namtok Koeng Mae Phong (น้ำตกแก่งแม่พอง)

The waterfall is 9 kms. south of Namtok Huai Luang along the nature trail. It originates from the Lam Dom Noi Stream.

Kaeng Sila Thip (แก่งศิลาทิพย์)

The large rapids is 3 kms. from the park's headquarters. Huai Luang Stream runs over a rock terrace and turns fierce in the rapids. In the middle of the stream, stream power has created lots of holes on the rock surface in different sizes and depths called "Kumphalak."

Phlan Kong Kwian (พลาญกงเกวียน)

The vast rock terrace with rock shelters at the front is home to wild flowers and plants. In previous days, travellers could seek shelter from this place. Thus, it is called Phlan Kong Kwian which literally means cart terrace.

Phu Hin Dang (ภูหินด่าง)

The cliff-top viewpoint allows tourists to witness the forest scenery of Lao PDR. and Cambodia. Its cliff is especially painted with natural bright hues. Geologists explain that dry weather millions of years ago catalyzed the mineral residues in the seawater and resulted this way. Tourists can enjoy a misty view during winter. The viewpoint can be reached via Highway 2248, 15 kms. from Amphoe Na Chaluai. Turn left at Ban Huai Kha into Highway 2254, through Ban Nong Mek to Sae Lamduan. The viewpoint is another 2 kms. away on foot.

To get there: the park can be accessed via two routes.

1. Motorists can travel from Ubon Ratchathani - Det Udom - Nam Yuen - Na Chaluai and turn right 10 kms. before reaching Na Chaluai. The park is 8 kms. away. The total distance is 140 kms.

2. Ubon Ratchathani - Det Udom - Buntharik - Na Chaluai. Turn left after passing Na Chaluai for 10 kms., the park is 8 kms. away.

Phu Chong - Na Yoi National Park provides guesthouses and camping ground, but no camping gear for rent. For more information, call the National Park, Wildlife and Plant Conservation Department at Tel. 0 2562 0760.

Namtok Kaeng Lamduan (น้ำตกแก่งลำดวน)

The fall is situated in the compound of the Ubon Ratchathani Wildlife Reservation Promotion and Development Station. The waterfall runs over a rock terrace and through the shady forest of Lamduan trees. Tourists can enjoy swimming and explore the nature trail that leads to caves and rapids. To get there: use Highway 2248 and turn right at Ban Nong Bon, 14 kms. from Amphoe Nam Yuen. The fall is 2.6 kms. away.

Amphoe Thung Si Udom

Prasat Ban Ben (ปราสาทบ้านเบญจ)

Located at Ban Nong Om, Tambon Nong Om, the Khmer sanctuary is a religious site comprising three brick Prangs on separated laterite bases. The Fine Arts Department excavated the site in 1990 and found lintels featuring 9 directional guardian angels and the God Indra on his Erawan heavenly elephant. According to its architectural plan and lintels, the ruins date back to the 10th Century A.D. To get there: Prasat Ban Ben is 63 kms. from downtown Ubon Ratchathani. Motorists can use Highway 2192 and turn into Highway 2214 before reaching Amphoe Thung Si Udom.

Amphoe Pho Sai

Kaeng Sam Phan Bok (แก่งสามพันโบก)

or the three thousand holes is located at Ban Song Khon, Amphoe Pho Sai. They are the rapids under the Mekong River eroded by the swirling water in the flooding season until they turned to have more than 3,000 holes or Bok. Bok is a Laotian word which means a deep hole of the rapids under the Mekong River. These rapids can be noticed in the dry season when there is no water. It presents a wonder of nature in the middle of the Mekong River, which was later called by the villagers the “Mekong Grand Canyon”. The most suitable period to visit Kaeng Sam Phan Bok is during December - May. It has a beautiful rock whose shape looks like a dog's head. One of the fables told is that in the past a city ruler was impressed with these gorgeous rapids, so he had an aristocrat conduct some research. After that, a gold treasure was found so they let a dog protect the entrance before the city ruler came out of the hole. When discovering the treasure, the greedy city ruler was afraid that the aristocrat would take a part of it, so he got out through another exit and let the dog wait until it died. Some other fables told were that the son of the Naga in the Mekong River excavated the land to build another creek and assigned a dog to protect the entrance while digging until it died and turned into stone. There are some neighbouring interesting attractions; such as, Hat Salueng, a white sandy beach stretching along the Mekong River, and Pak Bong, the narrowest point of the Mekong River along its length of over 700 kilometres, with a width of 56 metres. Northward from Pak Bong, there are the huge rapids across the Mekong River called Hin Hua Phaniang, separating the river into two streams. It is the origin of the name, Ban Song Khon.

To get there: It is 120 kilometres from Ubon Ratchathani province. Drive along Highway 2050, passing Amphoe Trakan Phueta Phon to Amphoe Pho Sai, which is 110 kilometres. Travel to Ban Song Khon and drive on for about 3 kilometres.

EVENTS & FESTIVALS

Flower Festival (งานเทศกาลไม้ดอกไม้ประดับ)

Held every February at Thung Kham Nam Saep Stadium, Amphoe Warin Chamrap, the festival features floral floats, decorative and flowering plant contests and fair.

Candle Festival

Kaeng Saphue Songkran Festival (งานประเพณีมหาสงกรานต์แก่งสะพือ) Held every April in Amphoe Phibun Mangsahan, the festival comprises a beauty contest, fair, local sports, and local music contest.

Candle Festival (งานแห่เทียนพรรษา) The province's largest festival is held annually at Thung Si Mueang to mark the beginning of the Buddhist Lent. The celebration comprises carved candle contests and parades from different temples to form a procession. The procession starts from Wat Si Ubon Rattanam to Thung Si Mueang, the venue for performances and showcase of the delicately carved candles.

Illuminated Boat Procession (งานประเพณีไหลเรือไฟ) Held every October to mark the end of the Buddhist Lent, boats from different temples will illuminate the river near the Rattanakosin Bicentennial Bridge.

Traditional Boat Races (งานแข่งขันเรือยาวประเพณี) Several boat racing tournaments are held annually in October after the end of the Buddhist Lent. The Mueang Ubon Ratchathani Municipality's tournament is held near the Rattanakosin Bicentennial Bridge. Tambon Phibun Mangsahan Municipality's tournament is held near the Mun River Bridge, and Wat Pho Tak's tournament is held in front of the temple.

LOCAL PRODUCTS AND SOUVENIRS

Ubon Ratchathani's local products include hand-woven cotton, Khit pillow, loincloth, silk, brassware, and basketry. These products are available at souvenir shops on Khuean Thani Road, or markets in the downtown area.

Mu Yo or preserved pork, Chinese sausage, Isan sausage, and Khem Mak Nat or black-eared catfish or iridescent shark-catfish in saline water with chopped pineapple, all are available in downtown. Various preserved and ready-to-eat food such as dried fish, dried frog's skin, and steamed bun with bamboo shoot stuff, are available at Kaeng Saphue, the main attraction of Phibun Mangsahan.
